Greetings, Nineteen Nineteen

O ALL OUR FRIENDS, near and far, The Tribune extends heartiest greetings and best wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year. May each succeeding day bring to each of you peace of mind and heart; strength of body and soul to meet every vicissitude of life and bear without breaking every load of responsibility and care that the days may bring and may each day bring to you opportunity for service to and for those about you that shall react to enrich and enlarge your own lives.

We wish for you all the peace and the joy of life; but the turmoil and the pain must come some days to us all. May it find you strong and fit and ready and may you pass through the storms and darkness without losing the sunshine of hope and love from your souls and your faith in The God of Right and Truth, unscathed by bitterness and despair.

Nineteen hundred and nineteen is to be a wonderful year; a year of readjustments and reconstruction world-wide in their scope: There are ancient wrongs to be forever swept away and rights to be established permanently among men: There will be need of such co-operation in service, tolerance and charity for one another real practical brotherhood among men as the World has never known before; if as nations and peoples the race is to successfully solve the great problems and improve to the higest advantage the golden opportunities this new year shall bring us.

The Tribune is glad and thankful for the small part it has in this great service of binding the world of men together in one great fraternal whole.

We are glad that week by week thru the coming year we may perform the service of carrying into sixteen hundred or more homes in Fulton county and contiguous territory messages of information concerning what men are doing, what events are taking place, what those far and near are thinking, hoping and striving for and sometimes we hope, giving inspiration and showing the way toward things worth while to some of our readers.

We are also glad that we shall have the privilege of serving those who are absent from the home county; scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, by giving them news each week of the folks at home.

We are here To Serve and the more and better we can serve you during this year the happier we shall be. Let us know if in any way in our power we can make the paper of more and better service to you.
